

Project Development Director (Part time)

The Common Players is a rural touring theatre company, based in Devon and formed in 1989 to engage communities in live performance. We are seeking to appoint a self motivated Project Development Director to deliver the company's key objectives and to drive future organisational growth and development. This is a new role made possible by an increase in support by Devon County Council and an Arts Council G4A award.

The role has three main areas of responsibility; strategic development, financial management and contract management. Securing funding for future creative work is a key function of the role. The successful candidate will have a proven track record in these areas and be able to manage their own workload while working to tight deadlines. The jobholder will have the ability to establish productive relationships with our funding, community and artistic partners.

The successful candidate will thrive in a role with a diverse range of responsibilities and must have the ability to work with minimal supervision.

*This is a fixed term contract until 31/3/2010
7.5 days per month £10,600 actual salary.*

For more information consult www.common-players.org.uk